Media Release: EROAD joins North American Transportation Services Association

27 June 2014 Auckland EROAD has been accepted as a member of the trucking industry's leading regulatory compliance authority in America.

The North American Transportation Services Association (NATSA) is made up of transportation safety and compliance professionals and serves the transport industry in the USA, Canada and Mexico. To qualify for NATSA membership, organisations must be safety and compliance professionals with high ethical standards.

EROAD is one of 600 organisations with NATSA membership.

Steven Newman, EROAD CEO, said he was delighted that the company's success in supporting regulatory compliance had been recognised by the NATSA.

"Becoming a member of NATSA is an important milestone for EROAD as we expand into North America," he said. "We look forward to the opportunity to work with NATSA's considerable network to support the transport industry to further improve safety and compliance."
